4. INACTIVE STATUS

A. Provide a justification for inactivating the program:

The Master of Music in the History of Musical Instruments specialization is awarded through the Music Department, but the expert staff at the National Music Museum teach the courses in this degree program. At this time the National Music Museum is undergoing a complete renovation of their Carnegie facility, and adding onto the current facility. Additionally, the governing board of trustees has undertaken a collaborative effort to build a new storage facility in Vermillion to securely and safely store a majority of the museum's collection. With these projects underway, the museum staff are fully engaged in cataloguing, bar coding, and packing over 15,000 musical instruments and ephemera.

Until the building projects are complete and the museum staff has uncrated and displayed instruments in the remodeled Carnegie building and museum addition, the staff has no time to teach the graduate coursework in this degree program, and cannot accept students into the program until the museum reopens.

B. If there are current students in the program, what are the implications of placing the program on inactive status? N/A

C. What is the last date (day/month/year) by which a student can graduate in the program: All students have graduated from the program, and there are currently no students in the program.

D. What is the proposed date (day/month/year) inactive status takes effect (the proposed date for inactive status is also the last date a student may enroll in or declare the program)? August 26, 2019

¹ Note: Certificates, specializations, and minors may only be terminated and not placed on inactive status due to limitations in Colleague.
² Note: An inactive program is a program a university has authority to offer, but the program is not admitting new students and has not formally terminated. A presumption exists that inactive status is a temporary status; universities review inactive programs periodically to determine the feasibility of reactivating or terminating the program. Programs can remain inactive for five (5) consecutive years at which time a university must terminate the program. A terminated program is a program for which a university ceases to have authority to offer. Reinstatement of a terminated program requires university and BOR approval through the prescribed new program approval processes.
