

College of Arts & Sciences International Opportunity Fund Call for Student Travel

Undergraduates in the College of Arts & Sciences are eligible to apply for international travel assistance to study abroad. Students may go as part of an independent study-abroad experience or as part of a faculty-led program. Awards usually range from $1000 - $3500. Applications are evaluated on the basis of financial need, academic record, short essay, and benefit to USD.

To be eligible, students must have completed 30 credit hours by the time they apply and must have a declared major in the College of Arts and Sciences. Applications will be accepted in the dean's office at any time but decisions will come after application deadline dates have passed.

The deadline for independent study-abroad experiences is March 15 for summer, fall semester, or the entire next year, or October 15 for spring semester.

The deadline for faculty-led programs (FLPs) is September 25 for winter break, October 15 for Isles of Greece, or February 15 for other FLPs.

Students must select an approved USD Global Learning program and are required to complete the Global Learning application with the Center for Academic & Global Engagement (www.usd.edu/studyabroad) prior to traveling. Students must be enrolled in at least one credit related to their international experience in order to receive this award.
