USD University Libraries Policy on Research Rooms

Definition:

The University Libraries (I.D. Weeks and Lommen Health Sciences Library Building) have 6 rooms (201C,201D, 301C, 301D, 301E, and 301F) available for faculty, emeritus faculty, visiting scholars, and graduate students to use for an extended period of up to one semester to work on research projects and/or to consult a large number of library materials. Each room will be assigned to up to 2 researchers at a time, depending on demand, who will share the room. When not assigned for the primary purpose, these rooms revert to Day Use or Quiet Study Rooms for faculty, emeritus faculty, visiting scholars, and graduate students on a first come first, serve basis.

Procedure:

Interested faculty, emeritus faculty, visiting scholars, and graduate students apply for a room (http://www.usd.edu/library/research-room-application.cfm) at the beginning of each semester. The Dean of Libraries reviews the applications according to the criteria listed below, prioritizes the applications, and assigns the rooms based on the merit of the need. Once the user has been informed of a room assignment through an email from the Dean's Office, s/he may begin using the research room. Check the key out and return it to the Circulation Desk on each visit. (We no longer distribute keys for research room users to keep the entire semester.)The Dean of Libraries will maintain a waiting list if there are more applicants than rooms available. Research Room users notify the Dean's Office when they have completed their project, so the room can be assigned to the next person on the waiting list.

Criteria for Assignment:

Eligibility for research rooms is based on one or more of the following criteria, which should be detailed in the web-based application form:

- Applicant is engaged in a research or writing project that requires uninterrupted study for more than a few days.
- Applicant needs extended access to a large number of library circulating and/or reference materials.
- Applicant is engaged in USD committee work that requires uninterrupted study and storage of large amounts of textual materials.

Note: Applicants who do not have private office space elsewhere on campus receive priority.

Additional Procedural Details:

- 1) The deadline for applications is the Friday before the first full week of classes of each semester.
- 2) It is the responsibility of the Research Room user to notify the Dean's Office when the study assigned is no longer needed.
- 3) Correspondence with the Dean's Office is normally through email after the initial submission of the web-based application form. The Dean's Office will send a reminder to return or renew faculty studies within the last month of each semester.
