University Housing is committed to providing a safe and meaningful component of a student’s educational experience. The residential and dining experiences gained in the first two years spent living on-campus at USD are instrumental in this endeavor. For that reason, the South Dakota Board of Regents (SDBOR) has mandated that students live and dine on-campus for their first two years in college following high school graduation.

University Housing recognizes that living on-campus and/or on-campus dining, for various reasons, may not be in the best interest of all students. For that reason, University Housing and Campus Dining does offer applications for Live-On Requirement Exemptions, Housing Contract Releases, and Meal Plan Requirement Releases for exemption from SDBOR Policy and/or Residence Hall Occupancy Contract obligations for those students with unique situations that make living off-campus or obtaining alternative dining solutions a necessary situation.

A medical, psychological, or disability verification form must be completed by the student and the student must provide contact information for their attending physician or licensed mental health professional.
